

LONG VERSION

The M&P Group – Creating added value

M&P is an innovation driver in the construction and real estate industry. These days, modern buildings need to be innovative, digital and sustainable. The M&P Group offers corresponding solutions: innovative engineering measures for energy and building technology, concepts for the digitisation of buildings and their operation, and sustainable energy concepts. Added value for your real estate!

Integrated systems ensure the greatest possible advantages for modern buildings. M&P develops interdisciplinary concepts and sustainable solutions. The only way to achieve maximum added value is to take a holistic view of a building and all its potential over its entire life cycle. Optimal technical, digital and organisational networking is the aim of every project.

In this context, M&P sees itself as a driver of innovation for its clients, developing viable ideas and integrated concepts in important fields of innovation. This results in future-proof solutions for the construction and operation of real estate.

The experts from M&P work together in a cross-disciplinary manner to achieve this:

- » Engineers from all the energy and building technology trades develop innovative system solutions for building technology and building digitization,
- » Energy experts ensure the highest level of sustainability,
- » Modern IT solutions digitise building operation,
- » Consulting based on added value opens up potential for efficiency.

The M&P Group is divided into the following service areas:

- » Engineering, with expertise in all energy and building technology trades as well as building digitization,
- » Energy, with extensive expertise in energy efficiency, sustainability and decarbonization,
- » IT Solutions for the digitisation of building operations based on SAP,
- » Consulting, focused on real estate management and facility management.

M&P has recorded continuous growth since 1989 and today employs more than 330 people at 14 locations, and generated over 73.5 million euros in gross turnover in the 2023 financial year.

Shaping the Future of Real Estate!

SHORT VERSION

About M&P

The M&P Group is an innovation driver in the construction and real estate industry. These days, modern buildings need to be innovative, digital and sustainable. The M&P Group offers corresponding solutions: innovative engineering measures for energy and building technology, concepts for the digitisation of buildings and their operation, and sustainable energy concepts.

M&P develops interdisciplinary concepts for the entire life cycle of buildings in order to generate maximum added value. Its service areas are Engineering, Energy, IT Solutions and Consulting.

M&P has grown continuously since 1989 and today employs more than 330 people at 14 locations, and generated over 73.5 million euros in gross turnover in the 2023 financial year.